

_____ Tina/Timmy buys a video game

Write a story about Tina or Timmy buying a video game. Give Tina/Timmy a specific character trait. Write the story and do your best to make that character trait obvious, but don't come out and just say it.

"Why was I here again?" thought Timmy. Oh right! He was here to get the newest Mortal Kombat video game. Timmy had been excited about this game coming out for...well, Timmy couldn't quite remember for how long, but he was sure it was a long time. Timmy strolled over to the counter to ask one of the store employees where he could find....what was it again? Oh right! The new Mortal Kombat video game. There was a line at the counter, but Timmy waited patiently. Timmy's thoughts bounced from one thing to the next, so waiting was never a problem for him. He could never quite hold on to a thought for very long. As he pondered this (for approximately 10 seconds before he forgot what he was thinking about), it was his turn at the counter. It took him a moment to remember what he was there for, but he finally remembered and confidently asked the person at the counter "Excuse me ma'am, but where can I find Mortal Kombat?". The woman behind the counter looked at him quizzically for a moment as if she didn't understand his question. Then she laughed. "This is a gas station" she said.
